Art Unit: 1724

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 24-26 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sabo (U.S. Patent No. 5,806,702). The reference discloses a tank having a bottom and sides; an inlet and outlet (see col. 1, lines 14-16; and col. 3, lines 50-51); an effluent distribution system comprising troughs forming channels integrally formed in both the bottom and sides of the tank, and further including a bottom channel spanning the width of the tank, and having additional channels intersecting this bottom channel (see Fig. 5; and col. 2, lines 63-66); and flanges and ribs (col. 2, lines 44-45); and this is all that is required by claims 24-26 and 29.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sabo in view of Miller et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,202,370). Sabo discloses the claimed invention with the exception of the recited sheet. Miller et al. teaches providing an underground wastewater storage tank (i.e. a septic tank) with a sheet (liner), in order to prevent leakage of the tank contents. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the tank of Sabo with the liner of Miller et al., in order to obtain the advantages disclosed by this secondary reference (i.e. leakage prevention) for the system of the primary reference.

Art Unit: 1724

Claim 28 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowed if rewritten in independent form to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims because the references of record do not teach or fairly suggest a recirculating filter tank system of the type recited, having a sheet that includes perforations such that effluent can flow from a filter to the integral troughs.

Schroeder (U.S. Patent No. 3,426,906) discloses a filter tank having an effluent distribution system comprising a bottom channel spanning the width of the tank and additional channels intersecting this bottom channel (see Figs. 1 & 3).
